Col. 'Red' Kittinger leaving the Excelsior III, on his way to setting the world's record for the highest skydive. The Colonel took the balloon up to 102,800 feet, jumped, and reached a speed of 614 mph during his 4 and a half minute jump.

Why are we sharing this little bit of trivia with you? Look at his red equipment pack. And his shins and feet.

We figure if the Colonel can trust his world record and his life to duct tape it should be able to handle any project you can think up.

From wallets and prom dresses to HVAC to 102,800 feet Merco has any duct tape you might need. Contact us with your next inquiry.
